

Jewel Brown, Ed. S.

Lead Teacher for Special Education

I am excited to be the new Lead Teacher for Special Education (LTSE) at Coralwood. I have spent my entire educational career working in the exceptional education department. I am often reminded that I did not choose this career, rather, it chose me! I love being a part of this department, and I'm looking forward to getting to know the students, faculty, and families that I will support here at Coralwood.

I earned my bachelor's degree from Troy University, my master's degree from Strayer University, and my Specialist in Special Education from The University of West Georgia!

I am the proud mother of an amazing daughter who is currently earning a degree in Early Childhood Education.

When I'm not at work, I enjoy playing golf, watching sports, and spending time with my family and friends.
